COLUMBIA

Director, Fire & Safety Division

New Westminster, BC

The Justice Institute of BC is a recognized world leader in justice and public safety education and training. The JIBC is a public post-secondary institution which attracts an average of 30,000 students annually, many of who return throughout their careers for ongoing education. The Fire & Safety division is a major component of the JIBC, and offers programs for career and volunteer firefighters as well as industrial and marine personnel engaged in emergency responses.

The new Director will work within established strategic direction and goals for the division to meet the needs of the provincial government, municipalities, clients, students and communities. This includes the development and delivery of programs for fire departments and industry, post secondary credentialed programs in fire and safety, as well as advanced programs for fire fighters. The Director will provide leadership to staff to achieve educational, financial, continuous quality improvement and customer service targets.

The ideal candidate will bring a solid track record of service at a senior level in fire fighting or bring extensive experience in a senior training officer capacity. He/she will have provided leadership and motivation to a related group or organization and acted as an agent of constructive change. With solid administrative experience, he/she will be able to help position the Fire & Safety division as the premier fire & safety education and training centre in Canada by ensuring relevant programs, credentials and applied research are delivered to meet the changing needs of the fire community.
