GENERAL CD-ROMs

This interactive CD-ROM presentation shows how to create a marketing dashboard that will reveal the true performance of your company's marketing activities. Professors John Quelch and Gail J. McGovern, both of the Harvard Business School faculty, explain and illustrate each step along the way toward keeping senior management informed of how your marketing strategies are attracting, cultivating, and retaining customers. In the process of creating your dashboard, you will also accomplish the following: learn principles of excellence in marketing; figure out what to measure and how to interpret the results; align marketing activities with corporate strategy; and ensure that marketing is driving growth.
