

The Emergency Management webinar series is designed to provide participants with up-to-date information on emergency management best practices, approaches, strategies, technologies, as well as individual experiences and success stories. Each webinar involves various speakers presenting on and sharing their experiences related to the chosen topic. At the end of each session, there is an opportunity for questions posed by participants and those submitted in advance via email. In addition to airing live, each webinar is recorded and available for future viewing. These webinars are designed for emergency management practitioners though applicable to anyone with an interest enhancing their emergency management knowledge.

Webinar #30: Hazard, Risk and Vulnerability Analysis (HRVA) – A Tool for Community Risk Assessment

The purpose of this Webinar is to provide an overview of the Hazard, Risk and Vulnerability Analysis Tool (HRVA). An HRVA is the foundation for any community or regional emergency management program. It informs risk reduction strategies, emergency response and recovery plans, and other elements of emergency programs. This session will provide a sneak-peak at an HRVA available to Local Authorities and First Nations in British Columbia and provide tips and tricks for using the tool. We'll also briefly discuss the importance of using future climate information in emergency management.

To submit questions in advance, please email them to emwebinars@jibc.ca by Tuesday, October 22 and join us for the webinar to hear responses from the panel.

Speakers: Kirsten Hunter, Planning – Emergency Management BC and Haley Williams, Policy Analyst – Climate Action Secretariat

Date: WEDNESDAY, October 23, 2019

Time: 10:00 – 11:00 AM (Pacific Standard Time)

Access URL: <http://jibc.adobeconnect.com/emwebinar30/>

Access to the webinar will open 15 minutes before start, log in using the Guest Access, a username and password are not required at that time.

Further Information & Past Recordings:

For further information, to test your computer for Adobe Connect, for links to past webinars, or to provide suggestions on future webinars please go to www.jibc.ca/emwebinars.

These webinars are made possible through the financial support of Emergency Management British Columbia and with the assistance of the JIBC's Emergency Management Division.